Library News

In February, the library celebrated Black History Month by participating in the national African-American Read-In. Students read works by African-American authors and recorded what they read and their names on a Read-In Chain.

Congratulations to the winners of the following contests: the winners of the January PBIS contest were April Pitman for prose and Audrey Mayo for art about fairness and the winning Martin Luther King, Jr. essay was Josh Gentry.

The February PBIS word is citizenship – art and writing entries are due February 22. In addition, the library is hosting the annual Southern Illinois Association of Teachers of English prose contest. Entry forms are in the library. Deadline is March 22.
